Its buildings and collections are unique and their protection is the responsibility of the museum staff. The use of the museum's facilities is made available to certain groups under specific conditions outlined below for the purpose of making the museum and its programs more widely known and available to the public. The fees charged are to reimburse the institution for its overhead expenses and to cover the wear and tear on its facilities.

Photography permissions: Those who book events that include the presence of professional photographers may conduct unlimited photography during those events in the museum's public event spaces. Photography in galleries during privately booked events must be approved by the museum's Registration Department to ensure copyright rules involving images of works of art are followed. (No flash may be used and no photography is permitted where "No Photography" signs are on display). Any professional photography on museum premises conducted outside the time frame of a paid event must also receive Registration approval and may be subject to separate location fees. Onsite photography for news media or nonprofit use must be approved by the Public Relations Director.

Set-up and breakdown for the event, including decorations and scheduling of deliveries, must be approved in advance with the Special Events office. The Mint is not responsible for any items left on the premises. Items are not allowed outside on terraces overnight.

Exhibitions cannot be rearranged, added, and/or removed, and may change throughout the year.

The Special Events Team does not perform the duties of a professional event planner or wedding director. The Special Events Team is present to assist in the functions' logistics, protect the museums' facility and collections, and act as a liaison between renter's vendors and museum staff.

Publicity must be approved by the museum. If you plan to distribute a news release about your event, it must be reviewed by the museum's Public Relations and Publications Director prior to dissemination. Any onsite media coverage must be monitored by a member of The Mint Museum staff. Use of The Mint Museum logo is not permitted except by special arrangement with the museum. The renter is not to promote their event as a museum-sponsored event. All invitation reception locations must read: Mint Museum Uptown at Levine Center for the Arts, or Mint Museum Randolph.
