We are here today to celebrate the marriage of The Groom and The Bride.

Groom and Bride, you are about to enter into a union which is most sacred and serious, requiring of those who enter into it a complete and unreserved giving of self. This union will bind you together in a relationship so close and so intimate it will profoundly affect your whole life.

May this love with which you join your hands and hearts together today, never fail you but grow stronger and deeper as the years go by.

Groom & Bride: I charge you now, that if either of you know any reason or impediment why you may not lawfully be joined together this day in marriage, that you should declare it at this time.

THE WEDDING VOWS

Groom: Do you give yourself to The Bride to be her husband to love, comfort, honor, cherish, protect and forsaking all others be faithful to her alone for as long as you both shall live?

Groom to answer: "I do"

Bride: Do you give yourself to The Groom to be his wife to love, comfort, honour, respect, protect and forsaking all others be faithful to him alone for as long as you both shall live?

Bride to answer: "I do."

Please repeat after me..

I Groom, take you Bride to be my wife, to have and to hold, from this day forward, to love and cherish; you and no other. As God is my witness, I give you my promise.

I Bride, take you Groom to be my husband, to have and to hold, from this day forward, to love and cherish; you and no other. As God is my witness, I give you my promise.
