Heard
Museum

Founded in 1929, the Heard Museum in Phoenix is internationally recognized as one of the world's finest institutions celebrating the diversity and vitality of American Indian art and history. A true Arizona landmark, the Heard offers a unique blend of modern amenities and traditional heritage of the Southwest.

A cool, green oasis in the heart of the desert and city, the Heard Museum is the perfect setting for private gatherings from small and intimate to grand and elaborate. Graceful Spanish Colonial architecture, shaded courtyards and tranquil fountains provide a setting of unparalleled beauty, character, elegance and charm; the ideal backdrop for receptions, dinners, and weddings. Our meeting rooms offer state-of-the-art technical facilities for conferences, presentations and retreats.

We invite you to allow our experienced, knowledgeable staff to create an event that frames your vision, one that is sure to be distinctly rich and memorable.
