Country Club RECEPTIONS

o much goes into planning a wedding that sometimes it's hard to know where to begin. Many brides start with the dress and go from there. Others have been dreaming about their wedding since childhood and need only a few months to organize and confirm everything they've been mentally planning for years. Whatever the case may be, a wedding is a very special event in a couple's life, so below we have gathered some important planning tips to help you put all the pieces of the puzzle together and create a memorable and beautiful wedding.

Consider The Size

The first task to accomplish when planning a wedding is determining the size of the wedding party and guest list. Once the wedding party is formed, attention should be turned toward potential attendees. Maintaining a list of possible guests helps both the bride and the groom determine how much room is needed to host both the ceremony and the reception. Often, parents and grandparents want to include people on the guest list as well, which means the wedding ends up being larger than originally planned. However, the couple who creates their guest list before booking the little white church that only seats 100 people will be happy they took the time to consider the size of the wedding prior to making any reservations.

Choose The Location

Once a couple has determined the number of guests they plan on inviting, as well as the size of the wedding party, it's time to select the location. Consider a few key factors when choosing where your wedding will take place:

- Will the ceremony and the reception be held in the same place?
- What type of venue is desired? Outdoors or indoors?
- Does the reception venue provide catering services?
- Does the venue include decorations or are they provided by the couple?

The good news is that venue options are available to accommodate just about any bride's dream wedding. With manicured lawns providing a beautiful backdrop for outdoor weddings, and beautiful facilities that also support indoor ceremonies, a golf course is an excellent choice for hosting your perfect day.

Regardless of the couple's preference, honing their expectations for the location(s) of both the wedding and reception will enable them to find a suitable venue with relative ease.

Choose The Attire

No one knows like a bride-to-be how important it is to find the right attire for her wedding— especially the wedding dress itself. By far the most exciting part of wedding planning for any bride, is the search for the perfect dress, this should begin after the couple has decided on the type of wedding they plan to have. Details such as size, venue, and potential themes are all key factors that help determine the style of dress best suited for the occasion. And because finding that perfect gown can take a while, it's a good idea to start early to allow for any possible modifications, since alterations can take at least a month to complete.

Once a bride has chosen her dress, she's then ready to select attire for the rest of the wedding party. Many brides choose to complement their wedding gown by selecting bridesmaid dresses in the same color, or in a similar style. Others prefer to have their dress stand out from their bridesmaids', and so they pick something completely different.

After the dresses have been chosen, the men's attire can then be selected—with care taken to ensure the style complements both the bride's and bridesmaids' dresses.

Details

Now that the major decisions have been determined, it's a good idea to brainstorm about what's needed to plan the big day—early planning saves stress as the wedding day draws near. And remember: when it comes to planning a wedding, details are everything!

A few planning details to consider:

- The Food. Find out if the venue offers catering. If they do—or if you hire an outside vendor—you'll need to plan a menu in advance.
- The Photographer. It's a good idea to interview several photographers to ensure you hire someone who's not only a great match for your budget, but who also captures your aesthetic.
- The Officiant. It's a good idea to ask if he/ she has any pre-ceremony requirements. For example, many officiants require premarital counseling before performing a marriage.
- The Flowers. A reputable florist with wedding experience can offer suggestions that will make the wedding beautiful. Also consider honoring loved ones on your special day—a good florist can help with that, too.
- The Music. What type of music do you want? Is a deejay or a band the better choice?
- The Parking. What type of parking is available? Are parking attendants needed?

Couples who take time to plan for their big day will enjoy a more relaxed wedding celebration, and find themselves worrying less about small issues that might arise as the day goes on.

When it comes to planning, every couple is surrounded by well-meaning friends and family members who want to offer advice. But the most important thing to remember is that the wedding is a celebration of the love the couple has for one another—it should be a reflection of who they are and an expression of their future together.

Wedding Planning Checklist

In order to plan the perfect wedding celebration, it's advisable to use a series of checklists to ensure no detail, big or small, is overlooked. On average, couples within the United States are engaged for approximately 16 months; however, when using our checklists, you can make any necessary adjustments to fit your own personal time frame.

Wedding Checklists at Nine to Sixteen Months Prior

- Organize a wedding binder or folder. Start by searching through bridal, fashion, gardening, and food magazines for inspiration.
- ☐ Plan your budget. Determine exactly how much you wish to spend based upon your own finances, and that of your family and friends.
- □ Decide who will be part of your wedding party. As soon as you become engaged, people will want to know the details of your wedding party.
- □ Start composing the guest list. Throughout your planning process, it's imperative to maintain a projected head count. Formulating a spreadsheet for this purpose is highly recommended.
- ☐ If desired, hire a wedding planner.

 Wedding planners typically maintain a working relationship with local vendors—and also possess insight into their particular area of expertise.
- Reserve your location and date. Decide whether you'd like to have the ceremony and reception in separate locations, or at the same venue.
- ☐ Reserve your officiant.
- ☐ Research bands, florists, photographers, and caterers. Keep all of their pricing and contact information in your binder.
- ☐ If you wish, host an engagement party. Bear in mind that anyone invited will need to be included on your wedding list as well.
