Runner & Stone @ The Old American Can Factory

232 Third Street

Brooklyn, NY

Our exclusive event space at The Old American Can Factory is truly a hidden gem. Minimally refinished, the room recalls the industrial past of the Gowanus neighborhood and allows the linens, table settings and refined food of Runner & Stone to overlay a picture of class and comfort. The space can accommodate up to 100 guests seated or standing, and the building has other spaces available for rent should the host want to move the party from the event space to say, the roof, or the courtyard.

The room fee begins at $2,000 and depends on the use, additional access requested (roof, courtyard, etc.), and the time frame of the event. There is no food and beverage minimum required, and menus can be custom made from cocktail party to multi-course sit down events.

The Bakery @ Runner & Stone

The heart of Runner & Stone is our working bakery and the delicious fresh-baked breads and pastries created by Head Baker Peter Endriss and crew. Our name itself, 'Runner & Stone,' refers to the two stones used to grind grain in a traditional mill, the runner stone and the base stone. The traditional mill is an important icon to us because it symbolizes our philosophy while grounding us in our neighborhood. Runner & Stone is located just a few blocks away from the site of the first tide water grist mill in New York City. Today, our restaurant is well known for the delicious smell of baking bread and pastries which greets guests upon arrival.

Celebrate your occasion with one of our beautiful, delicious, custom made cakes:
