Allergens & Dietary Restrictions

More and more of our clients are managing health concerns, or following religious guidelines through dietary restrictions. At Orchard View, we are happy to work with you to develop specialized menu options, for either catering or an in-house event. Please let us know about any requirements when finalizing your details.

We do want to remind our clients it is possible that some of our ingredients may come into contact with allergens at some point during the supply chain, but we will do our best to ensure they do not come in direct contact, and will be handled with care.
