Please be respectful of our property/things and keep it clean throughout your stay. Our space is meant to be shared with others and many bookings are back to back. Please leave the space as you would like to walk into it!

If any of our house rules are broken, we have the right to ask you and your guests to vacate the property immediately without refund. We hold the right to charge any cleaning fees or damage repairs associated with your stay.

It is very important that you respect the allotted time for your appointment. Our cleaning crew is on standby to clean after each session. If you go over your allotted time we will automatically charge your credit for an additional hour. Exceeding your allotted time can jeopardize the session of the person after you. If there are multiple instances of this incident we will take action and will ban you from being able to book with Farmington Co-Work in the future.
